PART I General Information

STUDENT FINANCIAL AID — AN OVERVIEW

The Office for Student Financial Affairs at the University of Florida offers a complete program of financial counseling and assistance to students needing funds to meet their educational objectives. Financial aid counselors seek to provide help for those students who would otherwise be unable to attend college.

The Office is committed to equal treatment for students without regard to race, creed, color, sex, or national origin.

Student Financial Affairs assumes the responsibility for coordinating and administering the various aid programs available to students — loans, grants, scholarships, and part-time employment. This assistance may be offered to students singly or in various combinations.

Assistance is granted according to each individual's need in relation to estimated cost of attending the University of Florida. Professional counselors determine need through the evaluation of parents and/or students financial information reports.

The parents of a student are expected to make maximum effort to assist with college expenses of the student. Financial assistance from college sources is viewed as supplementary to the efforts of the family.

All federal and state financial aid programs require an assessment of financial need which is based on parental ability to contribute toward educational expenses.

The student also is considered to have a responsibility to share a part of his/her college expenses. This responsibility is met through summer earnings and the use of a part of savings or assets which belong to the student.

Briefly stated, there is a mutual sharing of responsibility by the parents, student, and the University.

HOW TO APPLY FOR FINANCIAL AID

This booklet was designed to provide prospective and currently enrolled students with accurate information about the different types of financial aid offered through the University of Florida.

During the past few years, students applying for financial aid have been required to submit numerous forms to many different locations. Beginning December 1, 1977, most students will be required to complete only two forms to apply for the Basic Grant, the Florida Student Assistant Grant and all University of Florida General Financial Aid Programs. These two forms are the Financial Aid For (FAF) and the Financial Aid Supplement (FAS). For those students who have attended another college, university or other post-high school educational institution, a third form, Financial Aid Transcript (FAT) is required.

The Financial Aid Form (FAF) provides financial data, the Financial Aid Supplement (FAS) provides information about the applicant and the Financial Aid Transcript (FAT) gives a history of past financial aid received at other schools.

This year, for the first time, the Financial Aid Form (FAF) will be considered THE application for University of Florida aid, Florida Student Assistant Grant and Basic Educational Opportunity Grant (BEOG), if the student applicant requests copies of the form to be sent to each program office by the processor.

Each University of Florida undergraduate applicant must complete a Financial Aid Form (FAF) and request on that form that a copy of the financial analysis be mailed to the University of Florida and the Basic Educational Opportunity Grant processor, Iowa City, Iowa. No charge will be made for the Basic Educational Opportunity Grant report, and the Florida Student Assistance Grant report, however, the University of Florida report must be paid according to the instructions shown on the Financial Aid Form information sheet. Financial Aid Forms will be available on December 1, 1977. However, applicants are cautioned not to complete the annual income data (FAF) until the parents (or independent students) actual earnings are determined for the calendar year (1977, etc). The Financial Aid Supplement (FAS) and the Financial Aid Transcript (FAT) may be processed as soon as they are released (December 1, 1977) by the Office of Student Financial Affairs.

Applications for general financial aid must be submitted between the period December 1 and March 1 each year. Receipt of an award does not automatically renew an application for subsequent years. The student's academic record, availability of funds, the parent's financial condition, and certain other criteria must be considered.

To be considered for financial aid an applicant must: be enrolled at the University as (at least) a half-time student, have financial need, make normal academic progress, and be of good character and citizenship. Although an award cannot be made until an applicant has been accepted for admission to the University of Florida, the applicant should not wait for notice of acceptance, but should apply as soon after December 1 as possible.

Official award notices are mailed to each applicant during the Spring and Summer. Normally, awards are processed as each file is completed. Therefore, persons who carefully file the various documents early in the application period receive their award before other applicants. Since any single error can delay processing, applicants are urged to carefully read and follow instructions on each form.

APPLICATION FOR OTHER PROGRAMS

The information contained above obviously does not cover all the numerous programs offered both inside and outside the University of Florida. However, the remainder of the handbook provides direction to these sources.

Federal/State Insured Loan

One notable exception is the Federal/State Insured Loan. This program operates independently of other aid programs and is somewhat difficult to coordinate with them. Generally speaking, the program is tailored for "middle income" applicants. More details are provided in this handbook under Loans.

Application for the Federal/State Insured is normally accepted throughout the year. Closing dates are set by the time limit required to process the loan application for the term requested. This is usually a minimum of three months.

Basic Educational Opportunity Grant

Basic Educational Opportunity Grant (BEOG) applications (for undergraduates only) are normally received between January 1 and March 1 through the use of the Financial Aid Transcript (FAT). However when the University's deadline occurs on March 1, application for the Basic Educational Opportunity Grant (BEOG) will continue until March 15 of the following year (a 14½ month period). Therefore, a person who misses the March 1 deadline for general aid may still submit a Financial Aid Form (FAF) for Basic Educational Opportunity Grant (BEOG) consideration.

As one can see, the process is rather complex and can be mastered only by careful review of instruction.

Part II Programs Administered By The Office For Student Financial Affairs

GENERAL SCHOLARSHIPS

Funds for the scholarships listed below are derived from income generated from student fees and the University of Florida Agency Fund. No special applications are needed. General scholarships are awarded to students who have the highest grade point average, financial need and who have submitted a timely Financial Aid Form (FAF) and University of Florida Financial Aid Supplement.

HONOR SCHOLARSHIPS

The University of Florida annually recognizes exceptional high school students through the Honors Scholarship Program. These students must have demonstrated high scholastic achievement and financial need. The award averages $500 with the number awarded being dependent upon annual allocations of funds for this purpose.

ACHIEVEMENT SCHOLARSHIPS

A student previously enrolled at the University of Florida is eligible for Achievement Scholarships on the basis of the applicant's scholastic performance at the University. Sophomore, Junior, and Senior undergraduates who have maintained an excellent record in their Freshman, Sophomore, or Junior years, who have been full-time students in good standing, and demonstrate financial need, will be considered.

FLORIDA JUNIOR COLLEGE TRANSFER STUDENT SCHOLARSHIP

The University of Florida awards a scholarship to one student from each junior college in Florida for academic excellence each year. The determinants for this scholarship are grade point average and financial need.

MINORITY HONORS SCHOLARSHIP

This award is given to freshmen and transfer students who have demonstrated academic excellence and financial need.

NON-FLORIDA TUITION SCHOLARSHIPS

A limited number of Non-Florida Tuition Scholarships are awarded each year to outstanding students from other states who wish to attend the University of Florida. High scholastic accomplishment and leadership qualities are the chief criteria.

NON-FLORIDA TUITION SCHOLARSHIP FOR FOREIGN STUDENTS

The University of Florida annually awards a number of tuition scholarships to foreign students. Scholarships are awarded on the basis of the following criteria: 1. the meeting of all admissions requirements of the University, 2. and the prospect or actual achievement of a satisfactory record at the University. Inquiries concerning these scholarships should be addressed directly to the Foreign Student Advisor, International Student Center, University of Florida, Gainesville, Fl. 32611.

TUITION EXCHANGE PROGRAM

Under the University of Florida's membership agreement in the Tuition Exchange Program, out-of-state tuition will be waived for the child of a faculty member of another member institution when that student wishes and is eligible to attend the University of Florida. The number of out-of-state tuition waivers available each year is controlled by the University's export/import balance.

OTHER SCHOLARSHIPS

Listed below are other scholarships available through Student Financial Affairs. When students apply for general financial aid using the FAF and University of Florida Supplement, they are considered for these scholarships also. The University's financial aid counselors determine which students will be awarded based on guidelines set forth in each scholarship. These scholarships are available through the generous contributions of the donors named:

Food Fair Stores Foundation: The Food Fair Stores Foundation Scholarship Program was established at the University of Florida in 1954. It provides scholarships for worthy students who reside in the counties in Florida in which the Food Fair Corporation operates stores. The scholarships are awarded on the basis of the applicant's civic interests, leadership, scholarship, and need for financial aid. The amount awarded is $250 per year for four years if the recipient maintains a scholastic average of "B" or better.

Budd Mayer Companies of Florida Inc.: The Budd Mayer Companies of Florida Scholarship was established at the University of Florida in 1970. A $100 scholarship is awarded yearly to a student in the College of Business Administration who is in his/her junior or senior year.

Margaret Carrick Fairlee: Under the will of the later Miss Margaret C. Fairlee, a scholarship is available annually to a man who was a graduate of Norwood Public School, now School No. 23 in Duval County, and had maintained an average of B or better during that time. The recipient must also have graduated from Andrew Jackson High School or some other high school in the Norwood Section of Duval County, and attained grades sufficient to meet entrance requirements for a Bachelor of Arts Degree from the University of Florida. The student to receive the scholarship must be recommended by the principals of the above named schools and will be awarded for a four-year term. Renewal is contingent upon the students remaining in good standing at the University of Florida. The amount of the scholarship will depend upon the annual income earned from the trust established under Miss Fairlee's will.

Winn-Dixie Junior/Senior Scholarship: Three $200 scholarships are awarded each year to students in their junior or senior year and who require financial assistance. High scholastic achievement and leadership qualities are also considered. Students must have resided in the states of Alabama, Florida, Georgia, North Carolina, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, or South Carolina for at least ten years prior to attending the University of Florida.

Special Brecht Grant applications must be picked up at the Office for Student Financial Affairs or high schools and community colleges in Brevard County.

UNIVERSITY OF FLORIDA UNDERGRADUATE GRANT

The University of Florida Undergraduate Grant is awarded to minority and disadvantaged students who show exceptional financial need. Students who submit a FAF and the University of Florida Supplement are considered for the award.

LOANS

Educational loans are the largest source of support for students who do not have resources to pursue a college education.

Under most of the educational loan programs, students take out the loan in their own name. Unlike commercial loans, which require collateral, the student is entrusted for repayment.

Students may be able to borrow as much as $7,500 for four years of undergraduate school. Under federally supported programs, the student does not pay interest while in college. Interest and repayment begin several months after the student concludes college attendance and extends over a number of years. Depending on the loan, interest rates vary from 3% to 7%. Usually, repayment is deferred if the student continues in graduate school or enters military service after termination of studies.

Applicants for student loans must apply every year. Receiving a loan in previous years does not guarantee a student future loans.

NATIONAL DIRECT STUDENT LOAN

To be eligible for this federal loan, the applicant must be a citizen or national of the United States, or a person who is in the United States for other than a temporary purpose and has been issued a permanent resident registration number. In addition, a student must be enrolled for at least half-time on either the undergraduate or graduate level, must have financial need, and must make normal academic progress.

While funds may be advanced to a student only after enrollment, commitment of a loan may be made to an eligible applicant who has been accepted for enrollment.

HOW TO APPLY:

1. Complete the Financial Aid Form and mail it directly to Box 2700, Princeton, New Jersey, 08540. Also complete the University of Florida Financial Aid Supplement and return it to the Office for Student Financial Affairs before March 1 for the following academic year.

The maximum amount that may be loaned to an undergraduate student is $2,500 through the second year of college or $5,000 through the undergraduate degree. Graduate students may borrow up to $10,000 including their undergraduate loans.

Normally, repayment with interest at 3% will begin ten months after the borrower ceases to be a half-time student. Interest charges do not begin until payments on the loan are due. Repayment and interest charges may be postponed as much as three years if the borrower is subsequently serving in the Armed Forces of the United States, the Peace Corps, or Vista.

Borrowers who teach in eligible schools for the handicapped may cancel their total debt by teaching full time for a period of five years.

FEDERALLY INSURED STUDENT LOAN

Through the Higher Education Act of 1965 the guaranteed bank loan program was launched to provide financial assistance in the form of loans to students from middle and upper income families and thus provide a complete program of loans for students at all income levels.

Regardless of family income, any student is eligible to apply for a federally insured student loan provided the student:

1. is enrolled and in good standing or has been accepted for enrollment at the University of Florida.
2. is carrying at least one-half the normal full-time academic requirement at the University; and
3. is a citizen or national of the United States or in the United States for other than a temporary purpose.

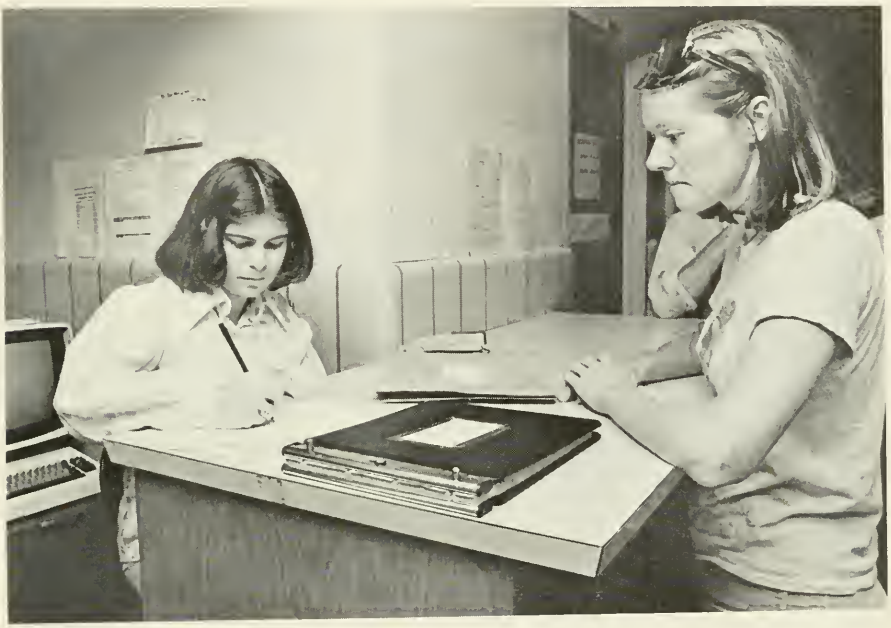
Applications may be obtained from the Office for Student Financial Affairs, from participating banks, savings and loan associations, credit unions or by writing to:

Director, Higher Education, Region IV
Office of Education, DHEW
50 Seventh Street, NE
Atlanta, Georgia 30323

Applications must be submitted to the Office for Student Financial Affairs. When completed the application will be returned to the applicant to be sent to a participating lending institution of their choice.

The applicant should realize that under this program, loans are made or denied at the discretion of the lender. The student should apply for this type of loan just like any bank loan. That is, the applicant should make an appointment to discuss their situation with a loan officer at the bank of their choice. The applicant should not apply for the loan by telephone.

The maximum loan provided to an undergraduate student who is a freshman is $535 per quarter based on graduation in fourteen quarters. Upper division and transfer students may borrow up to $2,500 per year. A student may not borrow more than $7,500 through the completion of an undergraduate degree. Graduate students may borrow up to $5,000 annually or $15,000 (including undergraduate loans) for all graduate studies.



A prepaid insurance premium of one-fourth of one percent calculated on the amount of the loan for the term of the in-school note is collected from the borrower or deducted from the proceeds of the loan by the lender. This premium is paid only once, and no refunds or adjustments are made.

Any student, whose adjusted family income is less than $25,000 will qualify for Federal interest benefits. However, the maximum loan may never exceed the cost of education less other financial aid received. Students having adjusted family incomes of $25,000 or greater and applying for a subsidized loan of any amount, must submit to the lender the school's recommendation for a subsidized loan based upon the school's assessment of the family's ability to pay for the cost of education.

For students eligible for interest benefits, the Federal Government will pay to the lender the total interest due prior to the beginning of the repayment period. Students not eligible for Federal interest benefits, or not wishing to disclose necessary financial data required for determining eligibility, may still apply for a loan but will have to pay their own interest prior to the beginning of the repayment period. During the repayment period all students will be responsible for paying total interest charges.

Although a loan may be prepaid at any time without penalty, repayment of the loan begins not earlier than nine months, and not later than one year after the date of graduation or withdrawal from school. Repayment schedules will normally be arranged for 5 to 10 years, although the student will be required to pay a minimum of $30 per month.

Repayment may be deferred while the borrower is a member of the Armed Forces, a full-time volunteer in the Peace Corps or VISTA, or for any period during which the student returns to an eligible school to pursue a half-time course of study.

The borrower is encouraged to make at least partial payments during such periods of deferment in order to reduce the principal amount of the loans. For students eligible for Federal interest benefits, interest payments on behalf of the borrower will continue or resume during such periods of deferment.

NURSING LOAN

Through the Federal Nursing Loan Program, the University of Florida participates in a program intended to assist students with low-interest loans to help meet costs of education.

A student is eligible for a Nursing Student Loan if he or she is a citizen or national of the United States, or has such immigration status and personal plans to justify the conclusion that she intends to become a permanent resident of the United States, and is enrolled as a full-time student in a course of study leading to a baccalaureate degree in nursing or an equivalent degree; or a graduate degree in nursing.

The student has a ten-year period in which to repay the loan; this period to begin nine months after leaving the University. Interest (3%) begins to accrue at this time on the unpaid balance of the total loan.

A student may borrow $2,500 for an academic year or the amount of his financial need, whichever is the lesser.

In determining the amount of assistance a student may require, the University considers:

- all financial resources available to the student, including
- other sources of aid, such as prizes, scholarships, other repayable loans; and
- the costs reasonably necessary for full-time attendance at the University.

The interest rate on Nursing Loans is three percent per year.

HOW TO APPLY:

1. Complete the Financial Aid Form and mail it directly to Box 2700, Princeton, New Jersey 08540.
2. Complete the University of Florida Financial Aid Supplement and return it to the Office for Student Financial Affairs before March 1 for the following academic year.

A schedule for repayment of the student's loan is selected by the student at the time he or she has an exit interview. This occurs shortly before graduation, or at the time the student ceases to be a full-time student.

A student may defer repayment of the loan up to three years during periods of active duty as a member of U.S. Armed service, or as a volunteer with the Peace Corps. Up to five years may be deferred during periods spent as a full-time student pursuing advanced professional training in nursing. Interest does not accrue during periods of deferment.

A student may cancel up to 50% of the amount of their loan plus interest at the rate of 10 percent per year for each complete year of full-time employment as a professional nurse in the fields of nurse training and service in any public or nonprofit private institution or agency.

Up to 100% of the student's loan plus interest may be cancelled at the rate of 15% per year for each complete year of service as a full-time professional nurse in a public or nonprofit private hospital located in an area which has a substantial shortage of nurses as defined by the federal government.

PHARMACY LOAN

Through the Federal Health Professions Student Loan Program, the University of Florida participates in a program to increase the opportunities for the education of youth in pharmacy by providing financial assistance in the form of long-term, deferred payment low-interest loans.

A student is eligible to apply for a Pharmacy loan at the University if he or she meets the following criteria:

1. is a citizen or national of the United States, or has such immigration status and personal plans to justify the conclusion that he intends to become a permanent resident of the United States.
2. is enrolled or accepted for enrollment in the University as a full-time student pursuing a course of study leading to a bachelor of science in pharmacy or doctorate of pharmacy; and
3. is in need of the loan to be able to pursue the course of study.

Professional students, interns, residents, and students seeking advanced training are not eligible for assistance under this program.

The maximum amount a student may borrow for an academic year is $3,500 or the amount of his financial need, whichever is the lesser. In determining the amount of the loan, the University takes into consideration:

1. the income, assets, and resources of the student and his family;
2. support available to the student from other sources, such as prizes, scholarships, veterans' benefits, and other repayable loans; and
3. the costs reasonably necessary for full-time attendance at the University.

The interest rate is 3% simple.

HOW TO APPLY: See Nursing

Loans are repayable to the school over a 10-year period which begins one year after he/she has completed or otherwise ceased to pursue the prescribed full-time course of study. Interest begins to accrue at the time the loan becomes repayable.

Principal plus accrued interest may be repaid in equal or graduated installments, according to the repayment schedule selected by the borrower during his or her exit interview, except that the University may require maximum repayment of principal and interest at a rate of equal to not less than $30 per month. The borrower may make payments more frequently or in larger amounts than required during a repayment year.

Payment of the principal of a loan may be deferred if the student is on sustained full-time active duty in the Army, Navy, Air Force, Marine Corp., Coast Guard, Coast and Geodetic Survey, or in the Public Health Service; or a volunteer under the Peace Corps Act.

Payment of the principal of a loan may be deferred up to five years, if the student is pursuing advanced professional training, including internships and residencies. Interest does not accrue during periods of deferment.

UNITED STUDENT AID FUNDS LOAN

The University of Florida has funds on reserve at USAF, Inc. for underwriting loans in the applicant's hometown bank, credit union, or federal savings and loan. After the University agrees to have a loan charged against the appropriate reserve fund, the student then takes the application, with the University's recommendation, to the loan officer of his hometown lending institution.

If the loan is approved by the lending institution, the student signs the necessary promissory note forms and pays a processing fee.

The amount which may be borrowed depends on the amount needed to meet educational expenses. Maximum is $2,500 per year, and a combined total of all federally supported guaranteed loan programs cannot exceed $7,500 for undergraduates and $15,000 for graduates.

Under current legislation, the maximum interest the student pays on this loan is 7%. This is less than customary bank rates for instalment loans and is offered by participating banks as a public service. Interest charges run from the date the loan is advanced until repayment is completed. However, interest is paid by the federal government for qualified borrowers during the time the student is in school.

Repayment begins the first day of the tenth month after the student leaves school. Monthly instalments may not be less than $30 on all guaranteed loans.

STUDENT AID FOR EDUCATION LOAN FUND (SAFE)

The Student Aid For Education Loan is a long term loan authorized by the Board of Regents with University of Florida student fees providing the funds.

To be eligible for this loan:

1. The student must be enrolled for a minimum of 12 academic hours.
2. The student must be in good academic standing.

3. The student must apply every year.
4. The student must be a citizen or national of the United States.
5. The student must be accepted for enrollment at the University of Florida.

The amount of the loan varies according to each student's financial need.

HOW TO APPLY:

1. Complete the Financial Aid Form and mail it directly to Box 2700, Princeton, New Jersey 08540.
2. Complete the University of Florida Financial Aid Supplement and return it to the Office for Student Financial Affairs before March 1 for the following academic year.

Repayment of this loan must begin no later than three months following graduation or termination as a full-time student at the University. The rate of interest charged on this loan is computed at an annual percentage rate of 3% simple interest and accrues from the date of graduation or termination of full-time college attendance. Repayment schedules are handled on an individual basis with a recommended minimum of at least $20 per month. Payment must be completed in 10 years.

A student who enters active military service may be deferred from payment for the period of his original enlistment or compulsory service in the armed forces.

LONG TERM LOAN

To become eligible for the University of Florida Long Term Loan a student must be classified as a full-time student and be in the upper division, graduate school, or professional school.

The maximum loan for a quarter is $300 for students who are within one year of receiving a terminal degree and $250 for those students who are within two years of termination. Interest is computed at 4% per year beginning on the date the student receives the loan. Repayment of the loan starts three months after graduation or termination from the University with minimum repayments of $30 per month.

A Long Term Loan requires an endorser who is over 18 years of age and must not be a student or student spouse. Generally, parents are preferred endorsers.

Applications for the Long Term Loan may be picked up in the Office for Student Financial Affairs. The deadline for submitting this form is March 1 for the following academic year.

Resources for these long-term loans are provided by the following funds:

SHORT TERM LOAN

Short term loans are available to a full-time student to help meet emergency and temporary financial needs relating to educational expenses. An undergraduate student may borrow up to $200 and a graduate student may borrow up to $250. If a student needs to borrow money to pay for tuition, the applicant may borrow enough to pay for their in-state tuition fees provided they show proof that repayment can be made. Interest is computed at the rate of 2/3 of 1% per month (8% per annum) on the unpaid balance from the date the loan is executed. A minimum of one month's interest will be assessed if the loan is paid in full before 30 days have expired.

Repayment on this loan becomes due on the first day of the last month in the quarter. In extreme emergencies, the repayment of the loan may be extended but it is up to the discretion of the loan officers. In the event of an extension, the extension note must be endorsed by an employed person over 18 years of age and who is not a student or a student's spouse.

Applications for this loan may be picked up in the Office for Student Financial Affairs.

EMPLOYMENT

The University of Florida makes every effort to assist qualified students in obtaining part-time employment on campus through either the University of Florida program (Other Personnel Services) or the Federal program (College Work-Study). Approximately 5,000 students are employed each year. Both programs are administered by the Office for Student Financial Affairs.

The average earnings are $385 per quarter. Earnings vary with the nature of the job, the skills of the individual and the amount of time per quarter the student can devote to employment. The average rate of pay per hour ranges from $2.30 to $2.50.* A student should have several weekday afternoons or mornings free for work. Many employers insist on three or more consecutive hours at least four (4) days per week, by the student employee.

A student employed by the University must remain in good academic standing. Employment should not interfere with the student's academic progress. The normal work week is between fifteen and twenty hours; specific hours being governed by the individual's academic record and the number of class hours carried each quarter.

Every attempt is made to place the student in work that utilizes training and experience, and wherever possible, is related to the student's major. Work done by students ranges from duties demanding special research skills to those demanding no skill except willingness to work and learn.

Students interested in obtaining a part-time job should submit a FAF and a University of Florida Supplement. An analysis will be made to determine what aid is needed, and if eligible, the applicant will be permitted to participate in one of the two work programs.

Please see subsequent information which more clearly defines the differences in the two programs.

COLLEGE WORK-STUDY PROGRAM

The purpose of the College Work-Study Program is to promote the part-time employment of students, who are in need of the earnings from such employment to meet the cost of a college education.

A student is eligible for part-time employment under the Work-Study Program only during periods in which he/she meets all the following conditions:

1. is a national of the United States, or is in the United States for other than a temporary purpose and intends to become a permanent resident.
2. is in need of the earnings from such employment in order to pursue a course of study at the institution.
3. is capable, in the opinion of the institution of maintaining good

*As of January 1, 1979, the minimum wage is expected to be $2.65 per hour.

standing in such course of study while employed under this program; and

4. has been accepted for enrollment as a full-time student at the institution or, in the case of a student already enrolled in and attending the institution, is in good standing and in full-time attendance there, either as an undergraduate, graduate, or professional student.

In the selection of students for employment under the Work-Study Program, the University is required to give preference to students from high need families.

OTHER PERSONNEL SERVICES (OPS) EMPLOYMENT

Additional employment offered on campus are OPS (Other Personnel Services) jobs. Funds for OPS jobs are derived from revenue appropriated by the State Legislature. Two major differences in this program from the Work-Study Program are:

1. it is completely state sponsored — salaries paid to students come entirely from state funds and
2. preference is given to students who demonstrate their need for financial assistance but who do not meet the eligibility requirements of the College Work-Study Program. Average earnings on OPS jobs are generally the same as for work-study jobs.

Students interested in OPS employment should apply through the Student Financial Affairs Student Employment Office, Anderson Hall.

Part III Financial Aid: Awarded By Individual Colleges

The Office for Student Financial Affairs is not the only source of financial aid. Individual colleges also offer various types of aid including scholarships, assistantships, loans and co-op work programs.

Unless specified otherwise, students should check with the Dean or the Chairperson of the Scholarship Committee of their individual college as soon as possible to fill out the appropriate application and receive information about the individual program deadlines.

Recipients of college administered aid are selected and then notified by their individual college. The college then sends an authorization letter to Student Financial Affairs who processes it and releases the money to Student Accounts. Funds are disbursed to the student through Student Accounts (The Hub) by appointment only. Appointments are mailed to the student's current mailing address on file at the Registrar's Office prior to the beginning of each term.

In addition to scholarships and assistantships, some colleges have long and short term loans. These loans are normally administered through the same guidelines as found in "Programs Administered by the Office for Student Financial Affairs" under Loans.
